Comments

Origin. Ried Bärnreiser in Höflein Soil. sandy loess soils Climate. The Bärnreiser vineyard is one of the warmest sites in the midst of our hill chain, as its southern exposure allows maximum sunlight and it is climatically more influenced by the Pannonian than by the large Ellender forest and the nearby Danube. Together with the nutrient-rich loess soils, this leads to a very constant ripening of the grapes and a silky tannin structure. Therefore, for us, the Zweigelt-dominated cuvée best reflects the characteristics of this special site.

Pairing

Food. Beef and game, roasted in a strong sauce, flavorful cheese variations with nuts.
Glass. Bordeaux glass. Temperature. opening and decanting a few hours before drinking have a great influence on the harmony of the wine, recommendation: 18°
