Comments

The Mediterranean climate of Campania with the influence of the nearby sea, the protective mountains and soils of volcanic origin offer an ideal basis for viticulture. The white variety Greco di Tufo in particular produces full-bodied, mineral and aromatic white wines, especially at Avellino. Only three percent of total wine production is made up of DOC wines, but the quality efforts of recent years are beginning to bear fruit.

Pairing

Perfect with fatty fish (cod), offal (tripe) and medium-ripened cheeses.

Tasting notes

On the nose ripe yellow fruits, fresh notes of apricot and candied citrus peel. Fresh, full-bodied, mineral in the mouth.
