Comments

Polarizing, excellently balanced and complex like never before - this is the new bottling of the Bowmore 18 Years, which replaces the well-known 17-year-old Bowmore. Despite many changes within the icon distillery, the successful process has never been tampered with. To this day, part of the barley is malted on the traditional malting floor and then slowly heated over a peat fire.

Pairing

After a meal or just to enjoy.

Tasting notes

Almost unbeatable in its complexity, harmonious with balanced aromas. The 18-year-old Bowmore shines with its soft nature, full-bodied and peaty. Smoky on the palate with a nice note of dark chocolate, rounded off by a fresh taste reminiscent of exotic fruits. Soft and persistent on the finish.
